OFFICER'S REPORT

Brief Description of the site:

The application site is located to the north-east of Bouillon Lane, set behind the development lining the inter harbour route, and within a mixed area of commercial and residential uses. The site comprises a detached dwellinghouse.

The site is located within a Conservation Area, in the Main Centre Outer Area in the Island Development Plan.

Conclusion/Brief comment:

The application site is located within a Conservation Area. The area is however characterised by development of mixed type, nature and quality, and this is reflected in the roadside boundaries. Furthermore the roadside wall at the application site is not, in itself, of intrinsic value, and the dwelling at the site remains closely related to the roadside. Removal of the wall and creation of a parking space as proposed would not therefore result in the loss of a distinctive feature within the Conservation

Area, and the sense of enclosure along the roadside would not be significantly compromised by the proposal.

The proposal would result in a single parking space serving the dwelling, according with the maximum Parking Standards. The parking space provided would just meet the standard size for a parking space and there would be no provision for turning on site, resulting in manoeuvring on the adjacent highway. Taking into account the position of a vehicle relative to the highway, and the retention of the side boundary walls, visibility from a parked vehicle would also be poor. The adjacent road is however a one way neighbourhood road which experiences low levels of traffic.

On balance, taking into account the particular circumstances of this site, the level of harm arising would not be sufficient to result in significant adverse impacts on the character of the Conservation Area, or on road safety.

All material considerations as set out in the Land Planning and Development (Guernsey) Law, 2005 and the Land Planning and Development (General Provisions) Ordinance, 2007 have been taken into account in the assessment of this application.
