OFFICER'S REPORT

Brief Description of the site:

The main house at St George appears as two-storey from the front façade which has gable features either side of the front portico with balcony railings above. There are six over six pane timber sash windows to both bays and a multi-pane door providing access above the portico. The rear façade is rendered with a projecting central three storey extension incorporating four over four sashes and faces north onto a courtyard area with stone wall to the north mono-pitched roof element to either side (east and west). The west element connects to the single-storey, flat roof pool extension which incorporates roof lantern over.

The west façade is three storeys in height with a render exterior with quoin details and stone lintels/cills to the windows, flat roof dormers, multi-pane sash windows and a first floor terrace area above the single-storey flat roof element which has decorative French doors set between columns leading out onto a patio area and is situated to the south of the poolhouse. Whilst the east façade is similar in many respects is it more enclosed and private, with a small terrace area whilst the west façade looks out over the lawns, sloping down to a formal, square pond.

Beyond the main house courtyard is another cluster of buildings, with lean-to glasshouse and thatched cottage to the east, estate office and garage to the north and dog house, further garage and attached pitched roof building with a pantile roof enclosing this cluster, to the west.

St George, other structures, walls and buildings on the site are Protected. The site is located Outside of the Centres as designated in the Island Development Plan.

Conclusion/Brief comment:

The proposed CCTV cameras, associated mounts/poles and equipment such as intercoms will not result in harm to the character and appearance of the local area or on residential amenity.

The security measures across the estate represent the reasonable aspirations of the property owner and where situated away from the main house or adjacent to the protected roadside wall will not result in unacceptable harm to the setting of the Protected Building. Those attached to the main house/protected buildings have been carefully positioned and will not result in unacceptable harm to special interest. This is subject to a condition specifying that the fixings of cameras 1, 2, 4 – 7 being through the joints in the stonework and not through the stones themselves.
