ADVICE AND OTHER REMARKS:-

For the avoidance of doubt, this decision permits the erection of an extension to the existing outbuilding. The extension together with the resultant outbuilding shall only be used as an integral part of and incidental to the principal dwelling presently known as Le Petit Chateau. It does not permit the creation of a separately occupied annex or an independent dwelling. This would require a separate grant of planning permission and involve different planning policy considerations.

Section 18 of the Land Planning and Development (Guernsey) Law, 2005 ('the Law') defines the effect of the planning permission hereby granted, namely:

(1) Planning permission ceases to have effect unless the development permitted by it is commenced within a period of three years immediately following the date on which it is granted (or such shorter period as may be specified in the permission).

(2) Planning permission enures for the benefit of the land concerned and of every person for the time being having an interest in it.

(3) Any conditions subject to which planning permission is issued are enforceable in accordance with the provisions of Part V of the Law.

(4) Planning permission for the erection of a building is only permission to use it for the purpose specified in the permission or, subject to any restriction so specified, for any other purpose for which it is designed.

(5) Planning permission is only permission to carry out the development specified in it (subject to any conditions so specified), and does not imply the giving of any other approval or consent required under this Law or any other enactment or under any rule of law.

Right of appeal against planning decisions:

Your attention is drawn to the provisions of Section 68(1) of the Land Planning and Development (Guernsey) Law 2005, which provides a right of appeal, on the merits against a decision to grant planning permission subject to conditions (except a building condition), to the Planning Tribunal, which is independent of the States of Guernsey. An appeal to the Planning Tribunal under section 68 of the Law against this decision must be made before the expiry of the period of six months beginning with the date on which the Authority made this decision. The official Appeal Notice Forms are available on the States of Guernsey website at www.gov.gg/planningpanel and must be completed with all enclosures in multiples as requested and received within the six months deadline.

Copy of representations made:

In reaching this decision the Authority took into account any written consultations made under Section 11(1) of the Land Planning and Development (General Provisions) Ordinance, 2007 ('the Ordinance'). GP13: Householder development

Conclusion/Brief comment:

Policy GP13 indicates that proposals for the alteration and/or extension of residential properties will be supported subject to certain criteria being met including with regards to the impact on the amenities of neighbouring properties, taking into account the surrounding character and where they accord with all the relevant policies of the Island Development Plan. In this instance Policies GP8 and GP9 are also relevant. In addition, the preceding text of Policy GP13 refers to the need to consider the material planning considerations as specified in Part IV, Section 13 of the Land Planning and Development (General Provisions) Ordinance 2007.

These include the appropriateness of the development in relation to its surroundings in terms of its design, layout, scale, siting and the materials to be used, as well as its likely effect on the character and amenity of the locality in question and its likely effect on the reasonable enjoyment of neighbouring properties.

The proposed use of the existing outbuilding for ancillary accommodation does not constitute a change of use for which planning permission is required. The limited size of the extensions and siting of the building, set back from the road and away from any neighbours means the proposed extensions are unlikely to have any significant adverse effects on the character of the local built environment or neighbour amenity.

Despite being a two bedroom dower unit, the relationship between the ancillary unit and main dwelling is good, with a single point of access and good overlooking between the two, meaning that despite not being attached there is a good physical link between the two units ensuring that the outbuilding remains related to and ancillary to the main dwelling. There is also a functional link established as the applicant has confirmed it is intended to be used by close family, and with utilities, laundry and dining facilities shared with the main house.

Information has been submitted to demonstrate that the design has taken into account the use of energy and resources, in accordance with Policy GP9.

All material considerations as set out in the Land Planning and Development (Guernsey) Law, 2005 and the Land Planning and Development (General Provisions) Ordinance, 2007 have been taken into account in the assessment of this application.

The application is acceptable in relation to the above policies and other material planning considerations.
