Brief Description of the site:

Away from the main house, to the northwest, beyond the formal rose garden, is a tennis/squash court with associated building which has an asymmetrical pantile roof and to the north of that is a garage/equipment store and a single-storey building known as the bothy. To the west of the tennis court is Hill Top Cottage which has a stone exterior and ornate, gothic style fenestration.

The application relates to changes to the southern end of the building with both the ridge and eaves levels increased with associated changes to the mezzanine level/first floor level. The site is located Outside of the Centres as designated in the Island Development Plan. St George and various other features/buildings on the site are protected.
